

Twitter is a social platform where people can share their opinions, thoughts and basically everything which is not forbidden by the law. It became so popular this days, that in many countries, especially USA, it is a great tool to use in democratic election. With just one tweet you can reach out to millions of people you are connected to. Because of its power, it is also used to destabilise and misinform people using so called 'fake news' made by 'fake accounts'.

This project was supposed to find this kind of fake activities in the public debate regarding Polish government election in 2018. In Poland Twitter is not that popular and Poland itself is not that big player on world's politics area, so it is not said that there will be many 'fake news'. But for sure there will be some suspicious activities which will be worth to analyze and draw some conclusions.